Hong Kong is nothing if not adept at rolling with the punches, writes STUART LAWRENCE, who also advises that there's never been a better time to visit if you're looking for deals, without giving up quality. Photographed by SAMANTHA SIN

EAT DRINK SHOP

In Hong Kong, food is never far away.

Central's strong banking presence as seen from Sevva.

For full-blown views, few places beat Sevva, a penthouse bar and restaurant amid Central's towering bank buildings. Owner and socialite Bonnie Gokson is inspired by what she calls "the DNA of Hong Kong"—traditional Asian food with Western fine dining. While drinking in the views, be sure to savor the tapas with an Asian twist.

WHERE TO EAT AND DRINK

SEVVA Night-time views of Central's bank buildings are unbeatable. 25th floor, Prince's Building, Central; 852/2537-1388; sevvahk.com; dinner for two HK$1,200.
